

HORSES AS PARTNERS

Horses are free and unbiased, follow their instinct and intuition. They have an ability to perceive dangers, moods, and intentions quickly and are accordingly. By their behavior, they help to train the own self-perception as well as the perception of others.

These kinds of experiences with our horses can be impressive. They stay in our memory and internalize our development goals. The experiences with horses burn themselves deeply into the memory and help to internalize development goals. The direct dialogue with the animal allows learning not only on the rational but also on the emotional level.

LOCATION

Our programs and workshops are taking place at our idyllic horse farm in Happach.

Coming from Munich you can reach our farm in about 40 minutes by car or by S-Bahn (S2, stop Kleinberghofen). The main office building has a comfortable fireplace room. In a covered riding hall practical exercises can be held, independent of rain and bad weather.

Happach is the home of 22 thoroughbreds, former racing horses, who now have a new task.

THOROUGHBRED RACEHORSES

... are very special: winners, heroes, champions. Their speed, elegance and style are fascinating. They had attracted people around the world on the most beautiful racetracks. They were kings of racing and heroes - and they gave it all.

Our goal is to give former racehorses a second chance: leave their past in the racing sport behind, come back as a riding horse and partner and master new tasks with joy. Their versatility predestines them not only as „galloppers“. They are best for activities in private sports and leisure. Here in Happach they even play an important role as professional “co-trainers” in management workshops.

The Heroes of Happach:

They were bred to win and stem from famous blood lines. Now they have passed their former careers in racing sports. They have developed a feeling for success and have good nerve strength; a small mistake would have cost a victory. With sensitivity and very fine senses they are returning feedback signals during practical exercises.

Our horses show free reactions and can communicate individual and specific information for and about the people they are working with.

Horse assisted education

The positive impacts of the animals e.g. concerning learning and personal development are visible. Horse assisted individual lessons lead to more social competence, concentration and personal confidence.

Meeting with the horses

Come and visit our horses individually and personally. Contact to animals is opening our senses — for children and adults as well.

Racehorse Net Line (32) loves children.

Workshops for adults

A special training concept for adult people is based on a combination of professional training tools and practical exercises, together with our horses as co-trainers in the process. These experiences are giving deeper insights than purely theoretical lessons.

Our personal development training for managers and team members is based on scientific methods.
